To Whom It May Concern

Please find below a brief testimonial for the Training Group International.

Both Bev Bradley and Lizz Corbett delivered an informative and interactive training programme on Sales and Communication to over thirty experienced sales professionals.

Working very closely with L'Oreal they were able to deliver a practical, relevant and exciting training programme that focused on improving and developing communication and selling skills while also focusing on the importance of great teamwork.

Training Group International have added value to the L'Oreal business by providing a professional training programme that we have continued to use today with great success.

If you have any further queries please do not hesitate to contact me.

Yours faithfully
